

Copper Development Association - Membership Information

Membership of the Association is open to companies involved in mining, smelting, producing or refining copper, manufacturing or fabrication of or dealer in or distributor of copper, or otherwise connected with or interested in copper and/or copper-containing materials.

Membership of CDA provides the opportunity for companies to define and participate in market development activities in the UK. The aim is to grow/defend markets rather than the market share of individual members.

CDA UK has access to technical expertise and support from the copper promotion network of 28 Copper Centres in 4 regions around the world with 200+ staff and an annual budget of $30+ million.

Benefits	Notes
Steer promotional campaign(s)	Entitlement to sit on relevant programme steering group(s) to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Propose an annual programme of work in line with the International Copper Association strategic plan - Guide the implementation of the programme throughout the year For the 'Other Industrial Companies' category this is subject to payment of project co-funding
Participate in programme activities	For the 'Other Industrial Companies' category this is subject to payment of project co-funding
Have input into the governance of CDA	Entitlement to attend mid-year AGM and stand for election/vote for CDA Council (6)
Support of CDA information service to member/members' customers	Members can promote the availability of this service to their customers CDA has access to technical expertise of the global Copper Promotion Network (28 Copper Centres in 4 regions around the world with 200+ staff and an annual budget of $30+ million)
Use of CDA technical/promotional material	Presentations, literature, link to copper websites. Larger quantities of literature may be charged at cost CDA to be acknowledged as source of presentation material and any modification is subject to approval.
Listing on CDA members' page of website with link
Promotion of member's products to market:	CDA provides information to enquirers on ALL suppliers and must remain impartial. Members' details will be supplied to enquirers where appropriate. Members are invited to brief CDA staff on their products/services

Copper Development Association - Membership Information

Subscription to Copper Promotion Network Newsletters	ICA/ECI newsletters for global/regional news
Supporting communications activities promoting general benefits of copper eg press releases, websites
Access to market data	When available
CDA representation on standards committees
Member Input
Annual membership fee	3 categories, annual fee production/turnover related. See separate fee structure document
Work in kind	Active participation in implementation of the programme Will vary with size and activity level of programme
Market data in support of proposals	If required, in confidence
What you do not get!
CDA endorsement of a product/company
Unlimited access to CDA's technical consultants' time
Exclusivity	CDA's remit is to grow/defend markets
Input into other National Copper Centre programmes	Regional (European Copper Institute) membership advised for participation in more than two countries